The following is from Willet & Gray's latest available circular:

Statistics by Special Cables.—Cuba.—The six principal ports—Receipts, 2,000; Exports, 2,300; Stock, $2,500 tons against 6,342 tons last year; Centrals grinding, 1 against none last year.

Europe.—Stocks in Europe, 715,000 tons against 596,651 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 984,732 tons against 664,409 tons last year at the same uneven dates and 835,394 tons at the even date of August 1, 1900. The excess of stock is 320,323 tons, against an excess of 282,203 tons last week, and a deficiency of 86,983 tons December 27th, 1900.

Hamburg.—Shipments, 250 tons sugar to America from Hamburg and Bremen. No engagements. 250 tons refined shipped.

Raws.—The tone and tendency of the raw sugar markets during the week, both at home and abroad have been downward. The indisposition of refiners to purchase or make offers for the several cargoes of Javas, which arrived at the Breakwater, forced those cargoes into store to wait a better market. A few sales of small invoices were put through on basis of 3 1/2c. for Centrifu-gals, 3 1/4c. for Muscovados, and 3c. for Molasses sugar, at which the market closes, with a still declining tendency. Europe has continued its decline and old crop beet sugars are now quoted at the extreme low point of 7s. 10 1/2d. per cwt. f.o.b. Hamburg; and next month new crop beets are quoted at 11s. 1 1/2d. All quotations for raw sugars everywhere are now conceded to be at, or below, cost of production, but whether this fact will tend to lessen the production anywhere remains to be seen. Crops now well underway, will, of course, be made; the Cuba crop is the one largest subject of the present untoward conditions, and many estates may be forced to abandon grinding if present prices continue. The condition of the island is already deplorable and extending worse conditions over the next season will be more so. Hence, it is absolutely essential and indispensable that our next Congress shall take up the question with energy and despatch of making sugars of Cuba free of duty, as already done for Porto Rico. There is no other outcome practicable for the relief of Cuba now under United States protection, either with or without annexation.

Refined.—Because the country allowed its supplies of refined sugars to run low there has been a large and steady demand during the week which refiners have been unable to meet without delay in several grades of the softs. This delay in some cases is ten days, and even an advance of 5c. per 100 lbs. on grades Nos. 4 to 8 did not help matters. At the close, however, demand fell off and grades 4 to 8 are shaded 5 points without changing the list prices and notice is given that all guarantees will expire Sept. 30, and applying to all sugars in transit at that time as well as to those not shipped. Balance of contracts in force will then be billed at the contract price without regard to the market price. This is an indication possibly of preparation for change of prices in October if not sooner. Such change should naturally be downward under continued bad conditions of the raw market and increased competition from the marketing of the domestic beet sugar crop which will then be beginning. Buyers will continue the hand to mouth basis, but trade should be good the remainder of this month.

THOMAS EVANS IN THEATRICAL DEAL

Former Honolulu Interested in the Alhambra of Manila.

Thomas Evans, formerly of Honolulu, later of Manila, and at present of Connecticut, is one of a group of men who have recently figured in a theatrical combination which seems to have broken up. The following relative to Mr. Evans, and also Mr. Whaley, is well known to Honoluluans, is from the "China Mail," of a recent date:

The Supreme Court in Manila has decided that Mr. Walter Jackson, well-known in Hongkong, is entitled to an accounting on the strength of his ownership, past and present, in the Alhambra. Mr. Jackson is at present in England. The history of the case is long and confusing. It seems that just shortly after the landing of the Americans in Manila, Thomas Evans, Walter Jackson and Mr. Williams took over an eight-year lease of the Alhambra from a Sr. Beldomero Poca. After a few months' control, Mr. Williams sold out his share to the other two parties. About the same time Mr. Jackson fell sick, and it was agreed between him and Mr. Evans to raise some money on the building, so that the business might be carried on. Mr. Jackson temporarily and nominally transferred his interest to Mr. Evans, so that the latter might act absolutely and without encumbrance, and borrow the necessary money. This was procured from the Messrs. Blum, of the American Commercial Company, the sum advanced being $34,000. In order to safeguard Mr. Jackson and the Alhambra, two contracts or agreements were drawn up between Mr. Evans and Messrs. Blum. By some misunderstanding on the part of the American and British Consuls, who were called in to advise in the matter, a mistake was made in the dates of the two contracts. This error led to some difference of opinion regarding to terms of the agreements, and when Mr. Jackson went to the Blums to receive his portion of the revenues or at least come to an understanding, he was told that by virtue of the agreements the money advanced on the theater was not a loan or a mortgage, but had purchased the place, so that Mr. Jackson had no more claim on the Alhambra, and it now belonged to the Blums. Mr. Jackson had also offered to pay the Blums off, and asked for an accounting, but this they refused to grant him. In the contract it was specified that all the proceeds of the Alhambra should be deposited with the American Commercial Company. To secure this Mr. Evans took in Mr. Whaley as managing partner and representing Mr. Blum.

THE GREATEST OF RICHES.

Not lands, houses, farms, stocks or bonds, but Health. Many a millionaire would give his millions to eat with the appetite, and sleep with the peace enjoyed by the Indian. Yet it does not need millions to be the equal of the Indian in health. The secret of his health and strength is ours. That wonderful Indian remedy, Sagwa, contains in itself the secret of the long and healthy life of the Indian. It is in some respects the most wonderful medicine known, because it is doubtful if any improvement in it is possible. It is the product of centuries of experiment. As it stands now, in the perfect balance of its life-giving ingredients, in their careful selection and their skillful combination, there is nothing left to improve. The pharmacopoeia of Nature has been exhausted. The Indian shut out from all outside help was obliged to wrest from Nature the secrets of her healing herbs. Slowly, very slowly through the long centuries he gleaned his knowledge and perfected it. Those centuries of slow results are represented today by the perfected compound Sagwa. There is no other remedy that has so many and so wonderful cures to its credit. It is purely vegetable. It is Nature's own remedy, as used by Nature's own children. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, assists the kidneys in their functions, regulates the liver, and makes the whole man sound and strong. It is unique among medicines, both for its simplicity and for the thoroughness of its cures. It cures all over and it cures to stay.

A TYPICAL SOUTH AFRICAN STORE.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays river, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of S. Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station, and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents.

ANOTHER GROWL FROM KEWALO

Householders Combine Not to Pay Rents and Landlords Won't Brave Mud to Collect.

Editor Advertiser—Once again the extraordinary condition of the Kewalo end of King street merits attention. Since the great storm of last November a considerable portion of the road has been constantly under water, and the unfortunate inhabitants of that distressed district have paid their pneumonia expenses by raising ducks. When the road did show signs of drying up a man named Peck, who owns a stable in the vicinity, managed to keep the road submerged by nefarious pumping operations. At no time during the summer, however, has the flood been strong enough to imperil a bridge of drygoods boxes and planks, constructed by several of the inhabitants who cannot swim.

Alarmed at the prospects of the approaching wet season a number of the swamp land denizens have moved to more salubrious districts within the past few weeks. Several others are contemplating doing likewise, and it seems inevitable that, unless something is speedily done to mend the road, a promising suburb will be entirely depopulated. One day last week a wagon load of rocks was dumped into the notorious slough near the Oahu Ice Works. This delectable spot is 150 yards long by 40 wide, and the depth of its black mud has never been sounded. This was taken as a token of better things by the inhabitants, and a general luau in honor thereof was observed. The wagon, however, stuck in the mud, and the sender, who has cottages to rent thereabouts, was evidently discouraged by the result of his venture, for nary another load of rubbish has been sent that way since.

Yesterday it began to rain; by 5 o'clock in the afternoon lower Queen street was absolutely impassable from the Sanitary Steam Laundry to its Waikiki terminus. Hacks could not be chartered for that perilous trip for $5 in gold coin. At midnight the entire road and sidewalk was entirely submerged, and children navigated a quarter of a mile of waterway on planks. If this rain continues the result is fearful to contemplate. As it is, the death rate of the district is scandalously high, and an extended wet season will enrich every undertaker in town. Something should be done. If the road department is afraid to tackle the job of making a decent road for the taxpayers, the thoroughfare should be converted into a canal. The inhabitants would guarantee to furnish their own boats.

The householders in the mud belt have one crumb of comfort. They have combined, and absolutely refuse to pay
